'SKYLINE' PLANTERS ◀
by Phase Design

Phase Design's Reza Feiz found inspiration for his aluminium planters (available in grey, black, white and yellow) in the urban silhouette of LA. 'I like the contrast between the organic, random nature of the plants being framed by the precise square aluminium bars,' says the self-taught designer. 'Skyline' planter, from $800 each, by Phase Design, www.phasedesignonline.com

'HIGO' TOOL ◀
by ECAL/Kacper Hamilton

Swiss ski maker Zai teamed up with ECAL student Kacper Hamilton to create this foldable ski tool and screwdriver designed to adjust ski bindings. Inspired by the simplicity of the higonokami, a traditional Japanese pocket knife, 'Higo' consists of three metal parts and two brass rivets. 'Higo' tool, prototype, www.kacperhamilton.com; www.ecal.ch; www.zai.ch
